Fast Breathing
Spells
Is Recognized As Case Of Fainting

Don't force yourself to breathe too fast or you may become hyper-ventilating.

This phenomenon causing too much oxygen concentration in the blood as so called spells, but is only now being recognized as a cause of dizziness, weakness, tingling, cramps, muscle pain and unconsciousness.

In a summary of experiments by Dr. H. C. Macdonald and Dr. W. B. Boothby of the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., it was found that the cause of many airplane accidents was the result of hyperventilation.

For a time, minutes while flying causes a rapid increase in the number of heart and blood circulation, which have hundreds of hours of flying experience and a few minutes of fear and even panic when flying over unusually hazy weather conditions.

If hyperventilation proceeds too far, an experimental found, the phenomenon of freezing to the controls is not uncommon cause of accidents in young pilots.

Many pilots who have experienced it have said that they could not get the controls to respond to their commands and that it is impossible for them to release the controls.

Plenty Of Japan
Japanese Empire Now Beyond The Hundred Million Mark

An article from Tokyo in the Christian Century magazine gives an estimate of the Japanese population in all circles in Japan over the past few years.

Japan's empire total population has gone beyond the 100,000,000 mark, standing now at 100,200,000, an increase of over 6,000,000 since 1935.

Had Plenty Of Buttons

Good Story About Anthony Eden, British Foreign Secretary, who was stationed in Rome several years ago. Eden had gone to Rome to persuade Mussolini to leave Ethiopia, "Italy is a nation on the march," Mussolini said.

He pointed his finger up the desk. He threw back his head and stiffened his neck. The man at the desk, a British, gazing straight at Eden. He reached for the electric button on the desk.

"Look here," he declared. "I press this button and the machine will make buttons ready at a moment's notice. I press this button and five thousand shirts will be ready in ten minutes."

Eden was amazed at the blustering, though naive host. "And what," replied the British Foreign Secretary calmly, "which one do you want?"

"I want a good dinner," Eden said. "I want a good dinner. You cannot laugh. You cannot laugh at it. The interview was a success. The dinner was a success. To attend a dinner that evening, which he himself had invited to Eden."

Devoted To His Country

Paderewski Gave Himself And His Country
When Chopin met Paderewski at Versailles in 1841, he said: "You are a great man, and you are the world's greatest pianist."

"And now you are the President of a country?"
"Yes," Paderewski replied.

"Men die," said Chopin, "but you are a great man, and you are the world's greatest pianist."
